LETTERS

Dear Update:
I was surprised and disappointed to see that you have snubbed one of the largest groups on Q-Link in recent issues of the Update .
In the Q-Link Calendar of Events, you have omitted every reference to the Trivia Club's regular 8:00, 10:00, and 12:30 a.m. games. I find no mention of the Trivia Club at all, which has an astoundingly large following and has frequently been called "the friendliest club on Q-Link." Unless there is a reason for ignoring the club, I think you owe the Trivia Club an apology.

Fortytude,
Albany, NY

Ouch! Sorry, sorry, sorry to the hosts and loyal followers of the Trivia Club—we did indeed omit mention of their scheduled trivia games from the Calendar of Events. The Trivia Club holds regular trivia tournaments every night at 8 and 10 p.m., and at 12:30 a.m., in People Connection's Trivia room. They hold additional trivia events at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 2 a.m. on the weekends, and the events are well-attended, friendly and fun. If you haven't given the trivia face-offs a try, visit the Trivia room in People Connection and jump right in! Times of the nightly trivia events return to the Calendar this month in the bold-faced boxes on each calendar spread. Again, my apologies!

Dear Update:
Due to the large number of meetings and things that go on every night, it becomes impossible to attend even a few of the ones of interest without creating a huge bill. I was wondering if there was a way to get a copy of everything that went on at an Auditorium event that you missed, so that if you can't be there to ask your own question, maybe someone else did.

Hoops,
Houston, TX

Hey, Hoops, you can get transcripts of People Connection Auditorium events for the last six months in News and Information's Entertainment/ Features area, in the Auditorium Archives. Just enter the Archives, find the event you'd like to know more about, and download a transcript. You'll be able to find out everything that happened at the event you missed!

To send a letter to the Editor, go to the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide, enter the Update area and choose the Post a Letter to the Editor option. Due to the volume of mail received, the Editor can answer only letters dealing directly with the content of the Update.

GAMES

Catch Gaming Fever!

Kick Off 1989 With Q-Link's Latest Online Games

Ready to Download and Play Tonight!

Q-Link® gets the New Year off to a rousing start — by offering three games to all the Q-Link members who love the challenge of interactive fun! These games have never before been available for download from Q-Link, and there are no special disks to buy or extra equipment to hook up — just download the programs and get in on the fun!

Download RabbitJack's Casino® For Fast-Paced Casino Excitement!

RabbitJack's Casino, the full-color, multi-player casino game, lets you capture the excitment, fun and spirit of Las Vegas without leaving your computer or opening your wallet.

And now RabbitJack's is available to all Q-Link members, because you can download the program directly from Q-Link for the first time. (300 baud modem owners may prefer to continue ordering the disk in The Mall's Q-Link Store).

Enjoy the sound, the go-for-it spirit and realistic odds that make Atlantic City and Monte Carlo fun for one and all.

Hit the Casino Big Time!

With the touch of a few function keys, you can enter RabbitJack's Casino and try your luck at Bingo, pray for "21" at the BlackJack table, match wits with other card sharks in Poker, and thrill to the clash of cascading silver coins when you hit the jackpot playing Slots!

Play with your friends or meet new ones as you hop from table to table and game to game. Or take a break and get together with other Q-Link gamblers in the interactive Casino Lounges to toast your wins and mourn your losses.

Win Q-Chips, Prizes and Join the Millionaire$ Club

If you've never challenged the odds in the Casino, don't delay any longer. You can win Plus Time at the regularly scheduled casino tournaments, and win Q-Chips every time you play. Accumulate one million Q-Chips, and you'll be eligible to join the Casino Club's Millionaire$ Club, get a valuable Millionaire$ Club membership package, and see your name up in lights (see page 16).

Just download the RabbitJack's Casino program onto a blank, formatted disk from the Casino Club (in Just For Fun's Entertainment Center) or the Q-Link Store in The Mall. You'll find complete instructions in these RabbitJack's Casino Disk areas online.

After you download the software to a blank formatted disk, add the Casino option to your game menu following the directions online in Download RabbitJack's Casino. Go to People Connection, choose the Play or Observe an Online Game option, and then Start a Game.

Insert your Casino Disk at this point, and choose the RabbitJack's Casino option from the menu. Then get ready for the time of your life!

Complete playing instructions for all RabbitJack's Casino games are available online in Just For Fun's Casino Club and in the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide in the Q-Link Game Instructions. You can save the instructions to a disk by using your F3 button, then read or print them out at your convenience.

Boxes, Quad 64 Join the Online Game Line-Up: Fun to Play and Easy to Add to Your Program Disk!

The latest additions to the Q-Link Family of online games are two entertaining offerings that will provide game-playing fans with a real treat! "Boxes," an electronic version of the childhood time-passer "Dots," is for two to four players and previewed on Q-Link in November. "Quad 64," a three-dimensional "Tic-tac-toe" game for two, is new this month. Add both to your Q-Link online game options, and you'll be able to enjoy hours of interactive gaming merriment — playing with friends, chatting together while playing, observing games — doing everything that makes Q-Link the place to be for online games!

Outfox Your Opponents With "Boxes"

Remember playing a covert game of "Dots" in school when you should have been listening to the teacher? Now you can play it on your Commodore without feeling guilty or hiding behind a notebook!

This version of the game combines interaction with light-hearted fun — you can talk to your opponent while he's trying to pay attention to the game — and maybe break his concentration to your advantage.

It's Easy to Play!

Q-Link sets up the board for you and keeps track of the score and whose turn it is. Press the F3 key, then use the keys around the "S" on your keyboard to position the graphic pencil to draw a line between the dots you want to connect. Press the <RETURN> key when the pencil is positioned correctly.

Take turns drawing a straight line connecting any two adjacent dots, either across or down. When you or one of your opponents create a box, Q-Link puts your player number in the box. If the line you draw creates a box, you get to take another turn.

When all the possible boxes on the grid have been drawn, the player who has created the most boxes wins the game! Q-Link announces the winner so there's no doubt about the outcome. During the game, you can send OLMs or double-check the playing directions by using the F7 key to pull up the menu options.

The game is deceptively simple, but skill and being able to anticipate your opponents' strategy also play big roles. Will you be the first Q-Linker online to master "Boxes?"

Tic-Tac-Toe With A Twist

The simple game of tic-tac-toe pales in comparison to the tricky dealings of "Quad 64," a three-dimensional version of tic-tac-toe where your goal is to be the first player to fill in four squares in a row, vertically, horizontally, diagonally, or across the four playing boards!

Fun and Easy to Learn

Again, Q-Link sets up the game for you — four boards, with each board consisting of a four-by-four square grid. Q-Link keeps track of whose turn it is, and you press the F3 key when it's your turn to move. Use the "move" keys around the "S" on your keyboard to position the cursor on the square you want to fill in. The "+" and "–" keys move you left and right to the other boards, and pressing the <RETURN> key fills in a square with your color.

You can make music while waiting for your turn by pressing the F3 key and moving the cursor around the board with the "move" keys, but don't let your guard down! Your opponent can win with four in a row in any direction, and the winning combination may run across all four boards.

You're Ready to Roll!

Once you've added "Boxes" and "Quad 64" to your Games Disk (see next page), you can test your gaming prowess online by choosing the Play or Observe a Game option in People Connection, and selecting Starting a Game. Find a partner, insert your Games Disk and follow the screen prompts to get going. Remember to hit the <RETURN> key twice to send an invitation to play!

Can't find a partner? It won't take long — just ask Q-Link to find an opponent by using the Ask Q-Link to Find Partners option. A systemwide message will go out that should find you an opponent in no time!

If you need game instructions while playing, just press the F7 key and select the Game Instructions option. It's easy, and it's fun!

Look for more new games online in the coming months. We won't quit adding to the gaming merriment until Q-Link is th*e only* place to be to play online computer games — without expensive commercial software or extra equipment. See you online soon — and, hey, are you in the mood for a game of "Quad 64?"

(People Connection/Play or Observe an Online Game/Start a Game/ Boxes or Quad 64)

Add "Boxes" and "Quad 64" to Your Q-Link Program Disk!

Q-Link currently offers members ten fun and interactive games online to play: "Boxes" and "Quad 64" join the existing games of Backgammon, Bridge, Checkers, Chess, Hangman, Four-In-A-Row, Reversi and Sea-Strike.

(RabbitJack's Casino has separate downloading instructions and using it is somewhat different from the other games — refer to the instructions on page 4).

The eight original games are available on the "Games" side of most Q-Link Program Disks. However, some Q-Link Program Disks included in other software and hardware packages do not have a Games Side — in that case, you can download the games to a blank, formatted disk. You also can't play the new games or Casino with a Version 2 Q-Link Program Disk. You can solve that problem by ordering a Version 3 Disk in The Mall's Q-Link Store for just $3.75.

If you already have a Version 3 or 4 Program Disk, you can tell which games are already on it by choosing the Play or Observe an Online Game when you're in People Connection and seeing which games come up on the menu.

Follow These Simple Instructions

It's easy to add the new games to a blank, formatted disk. Here's what you need to do:

1. Go to Just For Fun's Gaming Connection area. Choose the Online Games option and enter the Add Q-Link Games area. Download the new, revised version of the Addgames program from the Addgames Program option to a blank, formatted disk. The revised Addgames program will modify your Q-Link disk so that the new games will appear on the games menu when you select Play or Observe an Online Game from the People Connection menu. Do not download the program to your Q-Link Program Disk.

2. Download the games to your blank disk by entering Download Q-Link Games in Just For Fun's Gaming Connection.

3. Sign off of Q-Link.

4. Return to BASIC, insert the disk with the Addgame program into the drive, and type:

LOAD "ADDGAMES", 8 and press the <RETURN> key.

5. Follow the instructions on your screen, which include removing the disk from the drive and inserting your Q-Link Program Disk so the additions can be made to the games menu you see in People Connection.

Complete Instructions are available online in Just For Fun/QSociety/P.C. Link/Online Games. You can save these instructions to a disk using the F3 key and print a copy to refer to while playing the games online!

(Just For Fun/ Gaming Connection/Online Games)

The Fun Never Stops on Q-Link: More Games You Can Play Tonight!

Backgammon: The traditional board game as you've never played it before — online! Gather all your pieces into one corner and remove them before your opponent can remove his! For two players, and Q-Link sets up the board for you.

Bridge: Can you play this card game effectively enough to bid and "make the contract?" For four players.

Checkers: A favorite of kids from six to 106! Capture all your opponent's pieces by "jumping" them as you work to the other side of the board and get "kinged"! Two players.

Chess: The classic board game of skill and strategy. Decimate your opponent's kingdom and checkmate his king while protecting your own. Two players, and Q-Link sets up the board.

Four In A Row: A two-dimensional version of tic-tac-toe; be the first player to line up four discs on the 28-space board, horizontally, diagonally or vertically. For two players.

Hangman: Another old favorite — can you fill in the missing letters and identify your opponents hidden word before you swing from the gallows? Two players; alphabets, rope, gallows and victims included!

Reversi: For two players; Q-Link sets up the board. You and your opponent fill the 64-square board with your reversible black and white disks. If you surround his disks with yours, his playing pieces change colors and become yours! Whoever has the most of their disks placed when the board is full wins unless you eliminate all your opponent's disks first!

SeaStrike: Online version of another familiar board game; be the first to sink your opponent's five-ship fleet. Two playing boards show you the location of your own ships and the target sea where the enemy's ships are hidden.

Test-Drive Software — Before You Buy!

Commodore Software Showcase Offers You Start-To-Finish Software Support

One of the greatest benefits of the Commodore Software Showcase is the opportunity you get to test out programs before you buy them. That's right, the publishers of some of the most popular Commodore software programs are online to help you out — even before you buy!

You can download software "previews" in every publisher area of popular programs like Berkeley Softworks' GEOS 2.0, the updated version of their revolutionary desktop environment for Commodore 64s and 128s. Or, test out challenging gaming adventures like Electronic Arts' "Caveman Ugh-Lympics" and MicroProse's "Red Storm Rising." The graphics, the sound, the excitment — find out what you want to know about software before putting your money down for the program!

Evaluate Dozens of Programs — Then Order Them Online

It's easy to download software previews that interest you. Just go to the Support Center software preview areas, download the demos that grab your interest, and try them out at your convenience off line. Some of the game previews let you play the first skill level of a game; other demos allow you to take a self-run "tour" of the software to check out its capabilities.

You can read comments to see how other Q-Linkers feel about a demo or add your own critique by pulling down the demo menu and posting your opinion in the comments area for each preview.

If you decide you want to buy a program you've previewed, you can order it online, too! Look for order information in the Commodore Software Showcase's Software Buyer's Guide, then order programs in the online area for Software Discounters of America, located on the General Merchandise menu of The Mall. Software Discounters of America offers publisher software at deeply discounted prices — place your order and have it delivered right to your door!

Once you buy software, the Commodore Software Showcase publishers support it! Get your questions answered by publisher representatives when you post messages on the help message boards in each publisher area of the CSS Software Support Center. From beginning to end, the publishers of the Commodore Software Showcase bring you the best in commercial software service!

Learn to Get More from Your Commodore at the Beginner's Computing Fair

Are you getting the most you can out of your home computer? If you're looking to get more from your C64 or C128, plan on joining CIN SysOps for Q-Link's first Beginner's Computing Fair on Friday, January 13 at 9 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium. What you learn may surprise you!

The Beginner's Fair is similar to Q-Link's popular software publisher trade shows. The event begins at 9 p.m. in the Auditorium with a discussion of the most popular aspects of computing and where to go online for more information.

Then, join the special interest groups in different People Connection rooms to learn about their groups and software libraries, and how they can help you find out more about Commodore computing.

Explore Your Special Computing Interests with the Experts!

The SysOps of the Commodore Information Network Support Groups can help you identify the areas online that will appeal to your special interests. For instance, if you want to know more about utilities, you can pay a visit to the Applications special interest room to find out what sort of utilities you can download from Q-Link. Want to know how to make music using your Commodore? Visit the Music Room interest group to find out how to get started. Or, if you've heard a lot about computer bulletin boards (private databases similar to Q-Link), find out how you can tap into them in the Telecommunications special interest room.

The workshop will culminate with a gathering in the Auditorium for the awarding of prizes to some of the fair's participants!

Learn More Before the Fair

You can find out more about Q-Link's Hardware and Computing Support Groups before the fair by reading up on them in each support group's About this Group area. Decide which ones you'll want to explore at the workshop — then don't miss this chance to find out how you can unleash the full power of your Commodore!

(People Connection/Auditorium and Special Rooms)

(Commodore Information Network/ Computing Support Groups)

The General/Beginner's Group meets online every Friday night at 10 p.m. in Conference Center Room 1 to tackle a variety of topics.

Get Basic Computing Advice In the General/ Beginner's Support Group

Whether you're new to computing, a recent Q-Link subscriber, or just looking for answers to your general computing questions, you'll find lots of helpful advice in the Commodore Information Network's General/Beginner's Computing Support Group.

This General/Beginner's Group, one of twelve CIN support areas, is intended for all users of Commodore computers. If you've got a nagging question about applications, machine languages, or just how to plug something in, the General/Beginner's Group is there to help!

The General/Beginner's Group meets online every Friday night at 10 p.m. in Conference Center Room 1 to tackle a variety of topics, from the basics of downloading CIN software to using Omega-Q, Q-Link's exclusive all-purpose disk utility file!

Ask QDL Laura

Along with a library full of beginner's programs to download, helpful message boards, and up-to-date computing news, the General/Beginner's Group has something even more special to offer — the expertise of QDL Laura, who operates CIN's Downloading Help Desk and manages the General/Beginner's Support area.

QDL Laura will address your computing concerns, help you evaluate your needs, and recommend worthwhile software and hardware. QDL Laura, a self-described "Q-Link fanatic" ever since she first logged on in February, 1986, is entirely self-taught in the area of computers "through experience and a lot of hair pulling" she says, and she knows what it's like to be intimidated by your Commodore when you're just getting started.

Her home computing set-up includes a C64, C128, C128D and an Amiga 500; she has four different kinds of monitors and an equal number of disk drives. If you need advice on setting up or using your Commodore equipment, ask QDL Laura — she's been there herself, and she's got the answers!

You may also exchange computing tips with other beginners by posting and answering questions on the General/Beginner's message boards. The software libraries of CIN's General/Beginner's Group also contain useful information for people new to computing. In the Helpful Text Files area you'll find a Q-Link Guidebook with more than 60 exciting things to do on Q, game hints, and Q-Link maps to find your way around the system.

If you're new to the world of Commodore computing, or just want to learn how to use your computer more effectively, make the General/Beginner's Support Group a regular stop in your Q-Link travels!

Got An Opinion? Got a Beef? Sound Off on "The Max Weber Show"

by Max Weber

"Good evening ladies and gentlemen, and welcome to tonight's show. I'm your talk show host, 'Max Weber.'

Q-Link is pleased to debut 'The Max Weber Show,' with a star line-up of guests who we think you'll want to get to know. It's happening every Monday night this month in the People Connection Auditorium.

At 'The Max Weber Show,' you'll be able to 'call in' (using the special Call In option on the Auditorium menu) with your opinions about our topics, and with questions for our guests. You can also 'Get Up On Your Soapbox' in front of the Max Weber audience and sound off about the issues at hand.

'Max Weber' is insightful, controversial and even offbeat. We think our guests for January speak for themselves:

- 'The Bush Administration & Abortion Laws:' Lee Chiaramonte of the Ms. Foundation for Education and Communication, Inc. faces off with Robert Howarth, executive assistant to Congressman Richard T. Schulze (R.-PA), a pro-life supporter, at 10 p.m. on Monday, January 9.
- 'How Often Should You Have Sex?' That's just one of the questions we'll ask sex experts Howard and Martha Lewis of Clinical Communications, Inc. Howard and Martha host the Human Sexuality area in the Learning Center. We'll have a frank and open discussion, so parental discretion is advised, at 9 p.m. on Monday, January 16.
- 'We Know What You're Thinking (Because Psychic Scout Barlett Told Us).' Scout will discuss psychic phenomena and is open to your personal queries, at 10 p.m. on Monday, January 23.
- 'Hypnotism: For Real or For Show?' Get the answer from certified, clinical hypnotist Tony Padgett. Watch out for subtle suggestions, 10 p.m. on Monday, January 30.

Every seat at 'The Max Weber Show' has a front-row view of the action, and everyone gets to voice their opinions!

Join me Mondays throughout the month of January for 'The Max Weber Show.'

I won't blow smoke in your face, I don't need to lose weight, I have only one first name, and you'll never see me with a broken nose!"

Q-Linkers kickline to the party standard, "New York, New York."

Oh, What a Night!

Q-Linkers Do It Up Right at Philly-Fest '88

The music was loud, the room was crowded, and the energy level was through the roof when more than 300 Q-Linkers gathered from across the continent for Philly-Fest '88, the national Q-Link party held in Philadelphia November 5 in conjunction with the World of Commodore Show.

'Linkers hugged close friends they'd never met before in person, QCouples danced and romanced the evening through, and just about everyone entered the prize drawings and dance contests that continued throughout the QMega-event.

Q-Link also paid tribute to the people online who make it all happen — the CIN SysOps (in town for a SysOp workshop), the QGuides, People Connection personalities like BonnieB3 and RJScott, and of course, YOU, our members, for making it a great three years!

By the time the party wound down in the wee small hours of the morning, everyone had to agree it had been a night to remember!

"Bonnie B3" joined some of the regulars from Bonnie's Bar for the festivities.

Quantum's Vice-President of Online Services, Cathleen Anderson, thanking "Turbo GTS" and "Terilin" for their coordination of the party planning.

Twistin' the night away!

A doo-wop group? No, just a little dancing on the chairs!

Thanks for all you did to make Philly-Fest a success!

More to Do on Q

Become a Q-Link Power User!

You've got your Q-Link Welcome kit, your system map, and you've been online to explore a few times. But are you making the most of Q-Link? You can develop new computing skills, and get more out of your Commodore by maximizing the power of Q-Link. Now is the time to check out these helpful areas online!

Find Your Way Around Fast

First stop: the New Members' Area in the Customer Service Center. Here you'll find complete information about the many areas of Q-Link to help you find your way around the system. There's also a "key word" index and menu path guide, arranged alphabetically by topic. Just look for the topics that interest you, and you'll find a menu path that will get you to there online!

You'll find other useful files in the New Members Area, too, like descriptions of where to find help and QShorthand. Stop hunting around for the information you need — the New Members Information Center will steer you in the right direction! And best of all, your use of these resources is covered in your Basic monthly membership fee!

(Customer Service Center/New Members' Area)

Answers, Advice, Opinions on the Q-Link Message Boards

Find ongoing debates on every subject — and get answers to your Q-Link questions — by using the message boards located throughout the system. Exchange information with club members in Just For Fun. Get expert answers to your computing questions in the CIN Support Groups. Post a message on a Customer Service Center board for a fast answer to your Q-Link service questions. Or join the lively debates about the topics of the day in News and Information's Express Yourself area.

Here's how to use the message boards:

To see a list of the latest message subjects, choose the See a List of Latest Message Topics option and you'll get a list of message subjects, the screen names of the people who made the posting, and the date of the message. Just select the messages you want to read and press the F1 key. Use the <RETURN> key to see more subjects, or hit F7 to read replies to a message and add your own opinions!

Create your own message! By choosing the Start A New Topic option and entering the subject of your message, you can contribute your two-cents worth, ask a question or post a classified ad in The Mall. Check later on for replies to your message by finding it on the message board and looking for an "R," followed by a number, on the line below the date. That tells you how many replies to your message are waiting to be read!

You can also search for specific topics. If you're in the C64 Hardware Support Group Message Board of CIN, for instance, choose the Search for Specific Topics choice, type in "printers," and you'll get a list of all the message board postings that include that word!

Get Downloading Tips at CIN's Help Desk

You'll know you're a power Q-Link user when you start building a home software collection by downloading public domain programs from Q-Link's Software Libraries. Many of these libraries are located in the Commodore Software Showcase and Commodore Information Network, and if you need help with the downloading process, you can get fast answers from CIN's Downloading Help Desk.

The Help Desk is chock full of answers to common downloading questions (What is shareware? What's a disk error message?) and useful downloading hints and tips — where to find the best files, how to delete files from your disk, and more!

Best of all, you can post your downloading problems — like how to load and run programs or how to find the best Q-Link utilities — to the Help Desk Message Board. You'll get sound advice from the Help Desk Librarian, QDL Laura!
